U.S.-Korea Free Trade Agreement Oklahoma Farmers Will Benefit

September 2008

The United States concluded free trade negotiations with Korea on April 1, 2007. The U.S.-Korea Free Trade Agreement (KORUS FTA) is the most commercially significant free trade agreement the United States has negotiated in nearly 20 years.

The KORUS FTA provides immediate elimination of duties on more than 60 percent of current U.S. exports and gives U.S. exporters improved access to the Korean market for many of the products that have been highly protected. The U.S. International Trade Commission estimates that annual U.S. agricultural exports to Korea will increase by a minimum of $1.9 billion upon full implementation of the agreement.

The agreement eliminates tariffs and other barriers on most agricultural products, increasing export opportunities for a range of Oklahoma's agricultural products, including beef, pork, and poultry. Oklahoma's agricultural exports to all countries, estimated at $754 million in 2006, supported about 8,900 jobs, on and off the farm. These export sales make an important contribution to the Oklahoma farm economy, which had total cash receipts of $5.1 billion in 2006.

Beef. The cattle and calf industry generated $2.8 billion in farm cash receipts in 2006, or about half of the state's total. This industry will benefit from this FTA.

- For beef muscle meats, the FTA provides a 15-year straight-line tariff phase out with a safeguard that begins growing from 270,000 tons, a quantity that is 17 percent larger than our largest historical shipments.
- Technical consultations continue toward the goal of allowing imports to take place consistent with World Organization for Animal Health (OIE) guidelines.
- Following the May 2007 decision by the OIE classifying the United States as a controlled-risk country, Korea has announced that it will undertake in a timely manner its regulatory process toward expansion of market access for beef and beef products.

Pork. The pork industry is the state's second largest source of farm cash receipts that totaled $566 million in 2006. This industry will benefit from this agreement.

- Korea's tariffs on imports of more than 90 percent of U.S. pork products will become duty free on January 1, 2014. This includes all frozen and processed pork products.
- Date-certain duty-free access allows for U.S. exports to compete on a level playing field with other Korean free trading partners.
- A transparent first-come first-serve safeguard quota for fresh pork bellies and miscellaneous fresh cuts starts growing at 8,250 tons, nearly double current trade volume.

Poultry and Egg Products. Broilers are the state's third largest source of farm cash receipts and totaled $498 million in 2006. The poultry and egg industry will benefit from this agreement.

- Korea's tariffs of 18 to 27 percent on frozen leg quarters, frozen breasts and wings, and frozen turkey cuts, will be phased out in 7 to 12 years.
- As the number 2 market for U.S. egg products, Korea's tariffs of 27 percent on egg products, including egg yolks, will be phased out in 12 equal annual reductions.

Wheat. As the nation's ninth largest exporter of wheat and wheat products with overseas sales estimated at $334 million in 2007, Oklahoma wheat producers will benefit from this agreement.

- An unlimited amount of U.S. wheat for milling can enter Korea duty free upon implementation of the agreement.
- Korea's imports of U.S. wheat will no longer be subject to Korea's 1.8-percent tariff or its autonomous tariff-rate quota (TRQ) of 1 percent.
- Although this tariff differential may be small, it provides a small tariff advantage when competing against Canada and Australia.

Dairy. Oklahoma's dairy industry is the state's fifth largest source of farm cash receipts and totaled $178 million in 2006. Dairy producers will benefit from this agreement.

- The FTA will provide immediate duty-free access for double the current export volume of total dairy products. Duty-free quotas will be established for cheese, skim/whole milk powder, food whey, and butter.
- Current annual U.S. feed whey exports of $8 million will gain duty-free access to the Korean market immediately upon implementation.
